New Alucobond AU App Launched

A new iPad and iPhone app that enables architects and designers to see how facade finishes and colours will look on different types of buildings has been launched by Alucobond Architectural.

Free to download, the ALUCOBOND AU app allows users to simulate Alucobond Architectural's complete range of surfaces on commercial, residential, industrial and public buildings at the touch of a screen.

Mark Bradfield, Business Manager, Alucobond Architectural said the app – the first of its kind in Australia – was an ideal support tool for architects and designers seeking inspiration and ideas for their next project. For more information visit the Alucobond website.
